

FT Alphaville US trade

Tarriffic job, everyone

Putting the FFS in tariffs

Robin Wigglesworth

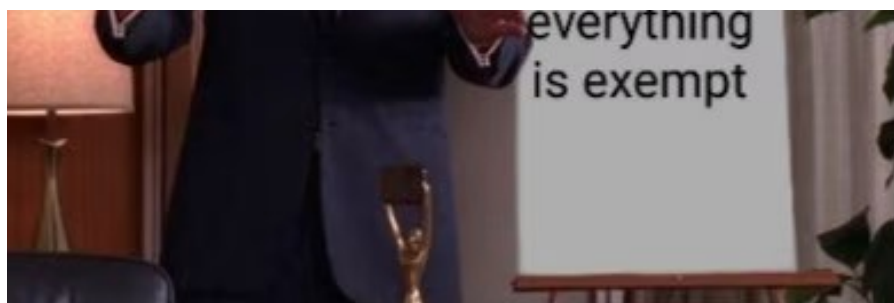

Published YESTERDAY

If you're reading this on a day that ends with -day, there's been news that US tariffs are on, off, delayed, or exemption-riddled. This is surely the kind of strong, decisive leadership Americans voted for in November.

Alphaville could spend lots of time thoroughly analysing the signs that the US is FAFOing itself into one of the dumbest economic downturns in history . . . But it's been a disease-riddled week and it's now Friday, so instead we'll just sum up the current state of Trumponomics through its most appropriate medium: the meme.

We're crediting either the creator — when we think we know who it is — or the person who sent it to us first. Thanks to FTAV readers for stepping up to the plate.

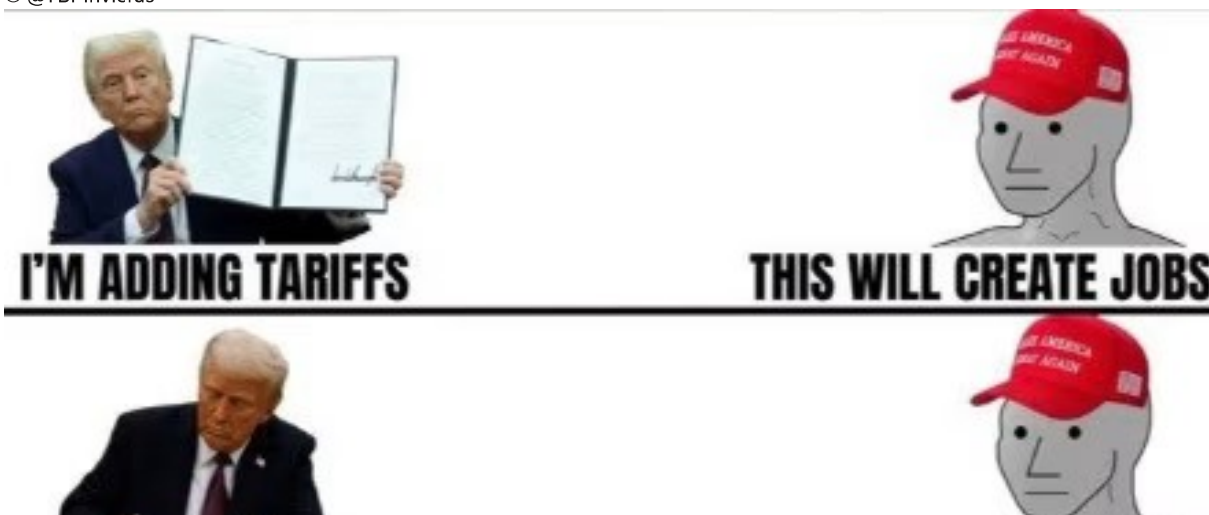

© @bisphamgreen.bsky.social

© @TBPInvictus

I'M REMOVING TARIFFS

@projectliberal

ART OF THE DEAL

I'M ADDING TARIFFS

THIS WILL CREATE JOBS

I'M REMOVING TARIFFS

ART OF THE DEAL

© Alexander Clarkson

Wall Street analysis on tariffs:

The tariffs are a negotiating tactic

He'll never actually go thru w/it

Ok fine but they'll be targeted

We believe the tariffs will

the tariffs will be short lived

© Ben Carlson

© Sean Tuffy

© @SkylerforNY

© Sean Tuffy

Copyright The Financial Times Limited 2025. All rights reserved.

Follow the topics in this article

US trade

Macroeconomics

US economy

US

FT Alphaville

